

PRICE OF HAIR CUTS GOES UP
Connecticut Bald Heads Promptly Start a Revolution.

MILFORD, Conn., April 17.—The price of a hair cut in Connecticut cities was boosted to-day from 25 cents to 35 cents by barbers throughout the State. Led by members of the Bald Head Club of America a revolution against the barbers is now in progress and a demonstration against the action was sent last night to the State Barbers Commission at Hartford.

The Bald Head Club plans vengeance with a capital V.—"No tips" is the word being passed down the line. At the head of the protesting phalanx are George C. Woodruff, President of the club; John Rodemeyer, originator of the club; and Lew Stone of Winsted.

ONE KILLED, 5 HURT AS NEW SUBWAY IN BROOKLYN CAVES IN

Shoring Timber Gives Way at St. Felix Street—Workmen Caught in Wreck.

A cave-in of timber shoring supporting the planking extending from building line to building line over a new B. R. T. subway excavation in St. Felix Street, Brooklyn, at 10:30 o'clock to-day caused the death of one workman, the serious injury of five others and minor injuries to a dozen or more persons who happened to be passing or were in buildings affected by the collapse.

buried in the ruins, but escaped serious injury.

The cave-in was in the heart of Brooklyn, close to the Atlantic Avenue railroad station. The subway excavation at the point of the cave-in, which is at the intersection of Hanson Place, is 65 feet deep. Coroner Wagner is of the opinion that the shoring was not properly braced.

Contracts of the Cranford Construction Company and the Degnon Construction Company meet at Hanson Place and St. Felix Street. The Cranford Company has completed its excavation to the 65-foot level. A heavy bulkhead was constructed at the southern end of the Cranford section, which has been excavated only to a depth of 35 feet.

The Cranford officials say that Degnon workmen, sinking a shaft at Hanson Place and St. Felix Street at 10 o'clock this morning entered a pocket of sand which began to run out under the bulkhead. Before the sand flow could be stopped the bulkhead, which supported the plank pavement at the corner was undermined, an overpowering strain was thrown on the wooden shoring in the excavation and the whole works caved in for half a block between Hanson Place and Lafayette Street. The man who was killed was on the Cranford payroll as Dominick Shrone of No. 97 Skillman Street, Brooklyn.
